We've developed a suite of premium features in Outlook for people with advanced email and calendar needs. A Microsoft 365 subscription offers an ad-free interface, custom domains, enhanced security options, the full desktop version of Office, and 1TB of cloud storage. Learn about premium outlook features that come with Microsoft 365 Here's a quick overview of the options you have when you're with a friend, for example, and you want to check your emails and sign in to Hotmail as a guest. The problem of course, is that the person who invited you may also be a Hotmail user, in which case you would need to log them out of their Windows Live account to check your own profile! However, depending on the length of your stay, your hosts' security settings and operating system, you will find several options that allow you to control Hotmail! Here are some choices you have, depending on your situation: The easiest, and most obvious choice to check your Hotmail account without log out someone else, is to use the private browsing feature that most modern browsers offer: it allows you to check your emails (or any other browsing activity), activity), leave traces after your visit, and in our case you can log into your account on a guest computer. Follow these steps to anonymously sign in to your Hotmail account. If your hosts are nice, and you stay as a guest long enough, they may well allow you to create your own profile on their computer, which would allow you to check your emails and other online profiles and activities like Facebook, without disrupting their activities! Finally, the best-case scenario is when you're a guest on a household that owns a computer, but none is currently a Windows Live Hotmail user! In that case, you will have no problems, as you will not have to log out any of their email account, and they will not accidentally end up in your Hotmail inbox, read your emails when trying to check their own Hotmail account! But with nearly half a billion Hotmail users worldwide, the chances of this scenario happening are unfortunately quite slim! Either way, the safest way to sign in to your Hotmail account as a guest is to avoid checking the check boxes that allow Windows Live to remember your username (Windows Live ID, or email address) and password: in other words, don't make the browser automatically sign in to Hotmail! Hotmail Privacy Tip: when you sign in to Hotmail as a guest, never forget to fully sign out and confirm that you are logged out. This way, you avoid anyone who accesses your emails or profile settings by mistake (or on purpose!) Tutorial last updated on November 26, 2011.
